

LEANNE ELLIOTT

PRINCIPAL CONSULTANT

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Leanne joined Interaction after a 30-year career that included significant periods of time spent working in the public sector, at all levels of government in both Canberra and NSW. She has worked at senior levels designing and managing programs and projects relating to change, communications, regulatory capability development, compliance and enforcement. Leanne worked for over seven-years as the Leadership Development Manager in an APS agency, receiving an Australia Day medal for her achievements in advancing leadership outcomes. She has also managed the installation of a new records management system, established regulatory strategy and policy, and the integration of back office business processes during the merger of two federal agencies.

While working in the private sector as a change management consultant, Leanne gained a comprehensive background in organisational assessments, reviews and restructures, team building interventions, business management improvement, strategic planning, and program evaluation. She has lectured in change management and other HR subjects with several tertiary institutions.

Leanne designs and delivers capability development programs for staff at all levels across a range of subject areas, facilitates team building and planning workshops, and conducts strategic consulting projects. She is a highly experienced and engaging facilitator with highly developed interpersonal and communication skills.
